Ougi BOT data usage acknowledgement

By using the bot “Ougi”, the user (referred as “you”) acknowledges and accepts the following.

General message data

To provide the basic functionality, Ougi processes any message that starts with its default prefix (or the one set by the Discord server owner) and/or any message that is sent to the bot’s DMs, but does not store its content unless specified below.

Language processing events

In order to provide a seamless immersive Artificial Intelligence experience, anything you teach to Ougi through learn command is permanently stored and available for anyone. Either you may use the contact information to request the deletion of a specific trigger or you may also use the forget command to delete a specific pair of trigger and response.

Message deletions/editions for snipe command

Under the deletion of a message within a channel Ougi has access to, the deleted/edited message is temporarily stored in the bot's instance (just so snipe and editsnipe commands can be used) and it's not visible to anyone, this data is wiped out every 5 minutes. Every Discord server owner is able to disable these functionalities entirely by executing ougi remove snipe and/or ougi remove editsnipe in their server; this way, no message deletion/edition data is ever processed nor stored by the bot.

Debugging

For debugging and improvement purposes, commands executed with the bot are logged temporarily and only available to the developer. This data is wiped out every 5 minutes and is already encrypted when logged.

How does Ougi store your data?

All data that has to be stored, regardless of the source or destination, is always encrypted using Advanced Encryption Standard (AES) and cannot be accessed elsewhere.

Per-user opt out from Ougi services

If you don't agree with this data usage acknowledgement, you can opt out from everything regarding Ougi. Opt out by sending a direct message to Ougi BOT containing “I want to opt out from using Ougi [BOT].”; doing so will:

- Prevent the bot from listening, processing, storing and engaging with any events, data and messages from your Discord account.
- Disable all the bot’s functionalities for your Discord account.
- File a deletion request for all the data you have shared and/or produced with the bot.
